Business Series

Open office is the norm in today's environment, but there are problems such as work distraction, lack of privacy protection, and mutual interference in open office spaces, making it difficult for people to focus on work and reducing work efficiency. The soundproof cabin is an independent space that absorbs sound and reduces noise, suitable for modern business office scenarios. It can be used for office work, meetings, phone calls, business negotiations, receptions, etc., perfectly solving the noise problem of open office.
